

POSTAL, STARRING Larry Thomas, is the latest videogame to feature film adaptation by German director Uwe Boll, right. Boll challenged four critics to boxing matches held in Vancouver last month. He won all four. Metro Vancouver

FMA VANCOUVER 2006 united fashion, music and art on one stage for charity. The event fused fashion shows by local and international designers with music chosen to suit the various designs. SOURCE: fmanancouver.com

SHADOW COMPANY is a documentary on the origins and destinations of modern-day mercenaries. The film explores the use of private militias in Iraq, which pay members three times the salary of regular U.S. soldiers. SOURCE: shadowcompanythemovie.com

RIGHT: Battlestar Galactica's Aaron Douglas and Grace Park upped the star wattage at the Talelight Films premiere party at Opus last Thursday.

BELOW: The Vancouver East Cultural Centre showcased the creativity of two local artists, Lori Sokoluk and Kathryn Brimacombe, at an exhibition of their work last Friday.

RIGHT: Jennifer Chow and Cathy Lin were beaming at the Urban Mixer at Whineo's on Granville Street on Thursday.

RIGHT: It was a star-studded night at the Fashion Music and Art awards. From left: Ryan Robbins (Blade TV), Megan Eklund, Sonya Salomaa (The Collector and Leo Award winner), Warren Christie (Gray Matters), Michael Eklund (Alice, I think, Intelligence), Anna Wong, Lesley Diana, Mike Eckford and Fiona Forbes (Urban Rush).

RIGHT: David Harroch and Melanie Heyes brought sexy style to the Talelight party at Opus.

ABOVE: DJ Johnny Omega spun some deep house and brought sax appeal to the Talelight premiere party at Opus on Thursday.

Shadow party

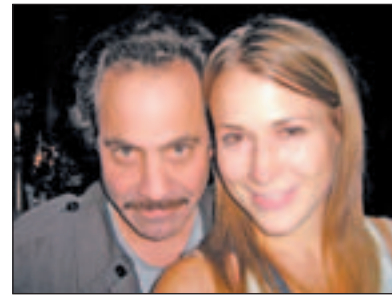

SOCIAL EYES

WARREN FREY
warren.frey@metronews.ca

PHOTOS BY WARREN FREY

RIGHT: Larry Thomas, currently shooting Postal, and Lara Kelly, star of hit film Run Robot Run, showing at the Vancouver International Film Festival (VIFF), lit up the Shadow Company after-party at the Century House on Wednesday.

Warren Frey brings Metro readers the weekly scoop on Vancouver's hottest parties and events.

Would you like your event featured in SOCIAL EYES? E-mail Warren at warren.frey@metronews.ca

ABOVE: Director Nick Bicanic and producer Remy Kozak were all smiles as they celebrated the VIFF premiere of Shadow Company, their gripping documentary about modern-day mercenaries.

LEFT: Actress Anne Maclennan and James Schour were beaming at the Shadow Company after-party at Century House last Wednesday.

KIKARA
MARTIAL ARTS ACADEMIES

www.kikara.ca

Enter to Win!

A 6 month membership, full equipment package and private lesson with a Kikara instructor. (Valued at $2900).

Enter online at www.metronews.ca

